

BLACKCLOAK

EXECUTIVES ARE BACKDOORS INTO YOUR ORGANIZATION. PATCH IT WITH BLACKCLOAK

Your executives are targeted by cybercriminals for the information, level of access and influence they possess within your organization. On corporate devices, these executives are protected by your organization's information security team. However, executives are always working, which inevitably means they are conducting business from their homes and personal devices which are vulnerable to attack. Or they are reusing personal passwords in the corporate environment.

The easiest way into your organization is by compromising a member of your executive team and hacking them in their personal life. A breach has not only financial ramifications, but also reputational, compliance, legal, and operational consequences, and even cause an organization to cease to exist.

BLACKCLOAK PROTECTS THE FORTUNE 500

BlackCloak protects the C-Suite and executive teams across all industries including finance, banking, defense, retail, life sciences, etc. It goes above and beyond identity monitoring by actually preventing the breach of corporate executives in the first place. Our dedicated team of cybersecurity professionals provides a bespoke concierge package to our customers that utilizes enterprise-grade cybersecurity software and tools that are commensurate with their digital risk profile.

Where your organization cannot protect and monitor your executives in their homes and on personal devices due to privacy laws/implications and SEC impacts, BlackCloak closes that gap and ensures your executives and their families are protected from cyber threats that can serve as potential points of compromise into the executive's company.

CALL UPON BLACKCLOAK TO PREVENT THE C-SUITE BREACH

Persons who are protected by BlackCloak are less likely to be the point of compromise from phishing emails and other malicious cyber-attacks. BlackCloak hardens your executive's' cybersecurity and privacy, continuously monitors for suspicious behavior on their personal networks and devices, and prevents the hack from every occurring or impacting the company.

BRING IN BLACKCLOAK TO ADDRESS THE BREACH AND BEYOND

As a part of remediating a corporate data breach, BlackCloak provides executive teams with Concierge Cybersecurity to ensure that the executive was not the source of the attack and does not become a vulnerable point in the future.

Let BlackCloak be the cybersecurity protection for your executives to ensure they are protected 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, so you can focus on securing your organization. Connect with us today to explore the Executive Coverage options available to your C-Suite.